

You would not be careless when meeting strangers, would you?

Phishing messages trick you into giving away your personal information.

- Look at the content, think twice if it's urgent and asking for personal information.
- Look at who is asking for a verification code, it should only be you.
- Look at the sender's identity, like email address.
- Finally, only open and click on trusted files and links.